NEW LEGISLATIVE JOB.

Unearthed by Our Watchful State Officials.

IT IS KNOCKED IN THE HEAD

Would Cost $5,000 for Publishing and Revising.

Oregon state officials have run onto a regular legislative steal in the following:

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 19.

Whereas the secretary of state in his biennial report to this legislature calls the attention to the fact that the first and second edition of a pamphlet entitled "The Resources of Oregon," are entirely exhausted, having been distributed abroad for the purpose of inducing immigration to this state and,

Whereas, there is great demand for literature treating on the resources of this state from parties abroad who are contemplating seeking homes in the West, and,

Whereas, the report of the Oregon World's Fair Commission to the legislature contains much information that will prove of value to intending immigrants if revised and published by authority of the state for free distribution, therefore, be it

Resolved by the house, the senate concurring, that the treasurer of the state be and is hereby directed to cause to be published 20,000 copies of a revised edition of the report of the "Oregon World's Fair Commission" to this legislature, when revised, to contain information treating upon the resources, developed and undeveloped, of our fair state; the said report, when revised, to contain also illustrations of the Oregon exhibits at the World's Fair.

Resolved further, that the state treasurer be and is hereby authorized to secure the services of some capable and competent person to perform the work of revision and he, the said treasurer of state is further directed to cause the said report to be distributed free and to the best advantage, to the end that the greatest benefit may redound to our state in directing the attention of those people abroad, who are desirous of seeking profitable investment and future homes.

The above was adopted by both houses about the last hour of the last day of the legislature and was slipped through in the confusion that then prevailed. It is clearly one of those jobs that are worked up very shrewdly and put to give some one a job who would put in unlimited time at big pay compiling and revising a two or three hundred page book.

As no appropriation was made to cover the expense, and as all the money appropriated will probably be used up for the necessary printing and binding needed by the state, and as the present state officials have set their faces like a rock against creating any deficiencies, the "job" is declared off as no one will take the responsibility of authorizing so large an expenditure that is merely ordered to be done on a house resolution.

The state publication of such a book would cost about $5,000, as illustrations are provided. Some Portland "papers" would probably be called in by the old world's fair commission to do the "copying."

vision" act and that would cost $200,000 more, and give one of the great army of the "unemployed" a soft job.

Governor Lord and Secretary Kincaid declare flat-footedly that they will run no bills of this character on the state but will stand squarely on the Republican platform which pledges them to strict economy and creation of no deficiencies. Treasurer Metcalf has not been seen but there is no doubt he stands on the same platform. The secretary of state has notified the printer that he will not buy paper, audit bills or issue warrants on this job and that knocks it in the head. The hard times and difficulty of paying taxes will tend to make the people approve this firm stand of their state officials. This establishes a precedent that will save the people thousands of dollars a year, as there has been no more flagitious abuse than those raids on the treasury, put up in the form of an innocent house resolution ordering use less expense.

An Iowa editor, after reading the souvenir edition of the Klamath Falls Express, made fun of the fish stories, whereupon Costel & Dagget, of Klamath, issued the following wonderful challenge to the editor: "We have noticed the comments made in your recent article relative to the alleged big stories concerning our hunting and fishing. We are willing to place $1,000 in any bank in Oregon that 1000 tons of fish can be thrown out with a pitchfork within the incorporation limits of our town between the 1st of April and the 1st of June, and that 1000 tons can be caught in the county during the same period. We are willing to wager an equal sum that 100 wild ducks can be killed from Main street in a single day for nine months in the year. This is a case of 'put up or shut out'."

While our government is founded on the principle of no union of church and state, the man who goes upon the theory that therefore the Americans are an irreligious, churchless, Christless people, is very much mistaken. But the true American never separates toleration and liberty from his religious principles.

It is done by keeping out of debt and not putting on any style we are not able to pay for.

It is done by not selling out principles or influence and thus retaining the confidence of the people. By following some of these simple rules almost anyone can succeed.
